

GETTING IT RIGHT!

27 June 06

The Elite always want the reigns of power to guide the ignorant rabble to the promised land. They always have a specific system in mind. And despite their occasional inability to get their own houses in order, they always know what is best for others.

To suggest that you have knowledge of Human Nature to the extent that you can codify it as a system, is conceit of the highest order, and smacks of that same elitism that is the Establishment. “I can see what humans do without compulsion in the Marketplace, therefore I will institute laws that force them to do it!” Or perhaps you are a Leader who has inherited a codified system from Daddy, or from winning the most recent beauty contest.

Or perhaps are you like Lincoln. He operated on what he thought his contract should have said rather than what it did say. His contract read, “I swear to defend the Constitution...” But the imaginary contract under which he operated (see his first Inaugural Address) – when he orchestrated the wholesale slaughter of Americans – was, “I take a solemn oath to defend the Government.” Perhaps he was just out to prove the old saw, “I’m from the Government – I’m here to help you!”
